

Emergency care access

Emergency medical care does not need a KWC referral. Seek hospital attention immediately, then follow-up with KWC after the crisis.

Emergencies, call 9-1-1 or go to the nearest hospital

Mental Health Crisis, call 9-8-8 or go to the nearest hospital

Working with your KWC Medical Home Team may improve the quality of your health care and shorten the time it takes to get that care.

What you can expect

- In a medical home, you and your team will work together. As an active member of the KWC team, you will have a chance to explain what is important to you.
- Your KWC team can answer questions and help you better understand your health care needs.
- If you need to get help from other doctors, your KWC medical home team can support you along the way.
- Your KWC medical home team will work with you to determine the best way to deal with health concerns.

KWC Coos Bay and KWC Eugene Medical Services, Laboratories, and Pharmacy are accredited by

During your appointment

- Ask questions from a prepared list you've created. Ask the most important questions first.
- Talk with your KWC team about what health issues to work on first.
- Keep KWC current with your medications, immunizations, allergies, conditions, tests, consultations, hospitalization
- Repeat back the things you've discussed so both you and your KWC team will know the information is clear.
- Participate with your team to make decisions about your health.
- Be sure to know the things you need to work on before you leave.
- Sign-up and utilize the Patient Portal so you can access your medical information, summaries, lab results online, and email your Medical Team.
- Speak up and ask questions during your visit.
